WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1.   A bookmark frame comprising:

a browser ID field; and 5   a URL (Uniform Resource Locator) field in a 1:1 relationship corresponding to the browser ID field.

2.   The bookmark frame of claim 1, wherein the browser ID field is 8 bits.

10

3.   The bookmark frame of claim 1, wherein the URL field is 64 bits.

4.   The bookmark frame of claim 2, wherein the URL field is 64 bits.

15   5.   The bookmark frame of claim 1, wherein the URL field is a string with null termination.

6.   A method of Internet access in an Internet terminal having a plurality of browsers and using bookmarks, comprising the steps of:

20   displaying the bookmarks for a user to select one;

interpreting a browser ID of a selected bookmark; and automatically launching a browser in accordance with the browser ID, interpreting a URL of the selected bookmark, and accessing the Internet.

25   7.   A bookmark frame generating method comprising:

activating a bookmark manager;

selecting a bookmark generation menu and selecting one of a plurality of browsers;

assigning a bookmark file and allocating an ID to the selected browser in the assigned bookmark file; and completing a bookmark by inputting a URL in the assigned bookmark file.

5   8.   The method of claim 7, further comprising the step of inputting a bookmark name in the assigned bookmark file after the URL inputting step.